Select Poetry.

LOVE LIGHTENS LABOR.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn,
And thought with a nervous dread
Of the piles of clothes to be washed, and more
Than a dozen mouthes to be fed.
There's the meals to get for the men in the field,
And the children to fix away
To school, and the milk to be skimmed and churned;
And all to be done this day.

It had rained in the night, and all the wood
Was wet as it could be;
There was puddings and pies to bake, besides
A loaf of cake for tea.
And this day was hot and her aching head
Throbbed wearily as she said,
"If maidens' but know what good wives' know,
They would be in no haste to wed!"

"Jennie, what do you think I told Ben Brown?"
Called the farmer from the well;
And a flush crept to his bronzed brow,
And his eyes half bashfully fell;
'It was this," he said, and coming near,
He smiled, and stooping down,
Kissed her cheek—"'twas this, that you were the best,
And the dearest wife in town!"

The farmer went back to the field, and the wife,
In a smiling and absent way,
Sung snatches of tender little songs,
She'd not sung for many a day,
And the pain in her head was gone, and the clothes
Were white as the foam of the sea;
Her bread was light, and her butter was sweet,
And as golden as it could be.

"Just think," the children all cried in a breath
"Tom Wood has run off to sea!
He wouldn't, I know, if he only had
As happy a home as we."
The night came down, and the good wife smiled
To herself, as she said:
"'Tis so sweet to labor for those we love,
It's not strange that maidens wed!"

History of the 49th Pennsylvania

BY A. B. HUTCHISON,
Late Captain of Company 'C.'

CHAPTER XIV.

March to Bonnesboro—March to Berlin—March to Wheatland—March to White Plains—Capture of Soldier's by Guerrillas—March to Warrenton—Lee's move on our Right—Retreat to Centreville—Return to Warrenton—Reorganization of Col. Irwin—Almost a Deserter-shooting—Battle of Rappahannock Station—Camp at Brandy Station.

On the East of the railroad was a low meadow land, and West, a considerable bluff, falling off precipitously to the river, and more gradually towards us.—On the bluffs the rebels had two redoubts, and, in each, two guns, with a rifle pit extending up, and parallel with the river, which receded towards the West. They had, also, a Fort on the South bank of the river, commanding these redoubts, and a pontoon bridge laid across the dam. In the works were the Louisiana Artillery, and in the rifle pits Hay's and Hoke's brigades, about seventeen hundred strong. Here our skirmishers were relieved by the 6th Maine, and the whole brigade were formed in line of battle, and preparations made, apparently to attack the enemy, but we did not think then that an attack would be made, as the sun was setting, and night was not far off. The enemy seemed to have the same idea, and everything appeared peaceful. Gen. Russell, who was temporarily in command of the division, sent Gen. Wright a message saying that, with his permission, he would, with his old brigade, capture the enemy in our front. Permission was given, and we began to move slowly forward. So little did any of our men or officers anticipate an attack, that a large number of our troops had not loaded their pieces, not having been ordered to do so, and being too old soldiers to do anything unless ordered. Between us and the enemy were two ditches; one dry, and the other with from one to three feet of water, at different places, and about ten feet wide.

We moved across the plain very quietly, until, emerging from the woods, the enemy saw that we meant fight, and we saw also that our advance was in earnest. The skirmishers, whom the rebels, not anticipating such a move, had allowed to come within about a hundred yards of their lines, suddenly charged the redoubts, and were in them, almost before the astonished rebels realized that the attack was something more than a feint. The line of battle, formed of the 5th Wisconsin on the left, and the 49th and 119th Penn'a on the right, followed the line of skirmishers closely. After getting over the big ditch, the men who had not loaded their pieces, made that fact known, and a brief halt to load was ordered. The air was full of balls, shell and shot, and the gathering darkness was almost neutralized by the blaze of the enemy's fire.

Just as we were starting on the charge up the hill, and just as our skirmishers began to secure a foothold in their works, Gen. Russell rode to the front of the Colors of our regiment, and ordered the writer to follow him, and to tell the color-bearer to follow, as the enemy were trying to turn our right flank, and were charging out of their rifle-pits. This took off the right wing of our regiment from the left, and placed it on the right of the line. We followed our commander up the hill amidst a lively fire, and, as per order, lost no time in getting to the works, not even stopping to fire a shot. Our comrades on the left had got the redoubts and guns, and the rebels were driven up to the bridge. We took the bridge and rifle-pit, and, lying down, held it, and prevented their crossing by raking it with our fire at every attempt to pass it. Notwithstanding the rebel leader, Gen'l Hays, rode over under our fire, and escaped. Our brigade had lost many men and officers, but our victory was secure. After some fitful firing upon the approach of another brigade on our right, they lay down their arms, and marched out prisoners. We had about 1600 of them, with 8 colors, 4 guns, and near two thousand small arms. Some few mounted officers escaped, and they had cruelly cut the throats of several valuable horses to prevent our getting them. When it is remembered that we had only 1350 men in our brigade, and that we lost about 300 in the fight, the victory won over superior numbers, entrenched, and the capture of their whole force and material, was an achievement not paralleled in the war, and over which the old brigade felt particularly well. Our gallant leader, Gen Russell, who was not lavish of compliments, praised us very highly for this evening's work. The darkness, and confusion of our sudden charge, no doubt, aided us, as the enemy had no accurate idea of our numbers, or the situation of affairs after we got the bridge. The brigade was under the immediate command of Col. Ellmaker of the 119th; but the attack was supervised by Gen. Russell in person. We lost, in killed, Capt. Hodgson, of the 119th; Capt. Walker, of the 5th Wisconsin; Capt. Furlong of the 6th Maine, and several other commissioned officers, while Gen. Russel was wounded in the foot, and his aid, Capt. Russell, severely wounded in the side, while Lt. Col. Harris, of the 6th Maine, was so badly shot that he was permanently disabled from service, and came near losing his life. The following official report of Lt. Col. Hulings gives, perhaps, a more accurate record of the part taken in this day's operations by the regiment, and is, therefore, copied:

"HEAD QUARTERS, 49th Pa. Vols.
"Nov. 8, 1863.

"CAPTAIN:—In obedience to orders, I have the honor to report that this regiment left its camp near Warrenton, Va., on Saturday morning, Nov. 7, 1863, at 7 a. m., and marched on the Fayetteville road in the direction of Rappahannock Station. After arriving near the Cavalry out posts, about 9½ a. m., company "C," and part of company "B," under command of Capt. Hutchison, were deployed as skirmishers, and company "D" and part of company "B," under command of Captain Quigley, were deployed as flankers, the balance of the regiment acting as a reserve.

The regiment proceeded in this order until we arrived near the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, one mile from Rappahannock Station, at 12½ o'clock, p m., and formed line of battle, our left resting on the railroad, our pickets and flankers acting as skirmishers until 3 o'clock, p. m., when they were relieved by a detachment of the 6th Maine.

We remained in line of battle at this point until 5 p. m., when we were ordered forward with the balance of the brigade to storm the enemy's works. The charge was made at 5½ p. m.. Our loss in the action was three killed and sixteen wounded, as follows:

Killed—Privates, Geo. W. Wilson, Co. A.; Richard McQuillan, Co. B.; George Harleman, Co. D.

Wounded—Capt. A. B. Hutchison, Co. C., face, slight; Adj't Jas. T. Stuart, side, slight; Com. Ser't Jno. D.W. Henderson, Co. A., leg, severe. Privates, Jno. P. Patterson, Co. A., head, mortally; Wm. Attig, Co. A, head, severe, Robt. Taylor, Co. A, thigh, slight; Benjamin Thomas, Co. A, leg, severe; Geo. W. Smith, Co. A, foot, severe; David Delaney, Co. A, shoulder, severe, William Farris, Co. A, arm, slight; John Lepley, leg, slight; Corporal Jas. W. Campbell, Co. B, arm, severe, privates, John Holliday, Co. B, hand, severe; William McAlevy, Co. B, hand, slight; Corporal Griffith Lytle, Co. C, thigh, slight; private Gideon Wolf, Co. D, breast, severe.

Very respectfully,
Your Obedient Servant,
THOS. M. HULING,
Lt. Col. Commanding.

To Capt. CHAS. H. HUBB,
A. A. General.

Next day after the fight we crossed the river on the bridge we took from the rebels, which they had unsuccessfully tried to burn in the night, and marched to Brandy Station. Here we drove the rebels from their camps in such haste that some of them left their rations cooking on the fire, and some even their arms. We picked up a straggler with a new Enfield rifle, who said he wanted to go home, and quit; and supposed, as we held Vicksburg now, where his home was, that the best way to get there, was to surrender to us. We thought it likely he would be a good while getting home by this route. Here we went into camp, as it proved, for the winter, tho' we made one advance from this point to Mine Run afterwards, and returned without a fight.

"GOODNESS me!" cried a nice old lady, the other day, "if the world does come to an end next year, what shall I do for snuff?"

For the Republican.

Men--Now, and Then.

BY "BECKIE."

Yes, *man*kind is doubtless degenerating. As a class, the men of to-day are far inferior, in some respects, to their forefathers of a hundred years ago. Of course, there are exceptions. Occasionally the eye is gladdened with the sight of a model man—one with florid features, tinted according to nature's law—a well rounded form, moulded in nature's workshop—a bright eye and elastic step, the offspring of temperance in all things—and what a contrast he presents to the great army of men we meet daily, with flushed countenances, superinduced by nightly orgies around the wine-table, lusty forms, bloated by beer, bleared eyes and faltering steps, whiskey's traveling advertisements. But 'tis not only a want of temperate conduct in the above direction. Other, many other causes place the men of to-day—the men of now—below the men of then. What a ridiculous figure would they cut, were the men of the present thrown back to occupy the positions held and honored by the hardy pioneers of an hundred years ago. Just think! Imagine your city sport in patent leathers, chopping off the primeval forest, to clear the land whereon to cultivate his bread! Imagine the cockney in kids and goggles, holding the plough, while the patient oxen toil on amid roots and brush to stir the virgin soil! Imagine the fop, with his hair parted in the middle, bowing and smiling behind the counter, wading three feet of snow, with his rifle on his shoulder, to procure meat for a family. But enough of this. 'Tis useless to multiply contrasts. Let us follow him from youth up. At fifteen, and very, very often before he cuts himself loose from his mother's apron-strings, oils his hair, sets his hat to one side, thrusts his thumbs into his breeches' pockets, and struts along the street with all the importance of a John Jacob Aster. He is a mushroom, so to speak, for he contemplates only present existence. At eighteen, all trace of boyhood has vanished from his eye. He finds himself rigged out in fashion's most approved style. He rises at 9 a. m., spends half an hour before the glass, admiring his new neck-tie, or studying how best to tip his hat to darling Angelina. He then eats his breakfast and saunters up street. All his talk is about that little "angel" of his down town, and now begins that most comical period in the fellow's history—the period when he begins to sigh because of that which he thinks is love. Poor little fellow! But we pass on. Seventeen finds him at a boarding-school. Indulgent papa has supplied him plentifully with spending money, and he is now in his glory. His "governor," as he is wont to style his father, is not near to watch his movements. His time is spent with sports, like himself, down town, when he can evade the eyes of watchful Professors, or in sham sickness in his room. Such a time as the future, he never thinks of, and preparation is, therefore, in consequence, beyond his comprehension.—Eighteen finds him grown to the stature of a man, and stature only, for there is not one element of true manhood in him. No true woman, let me tell you, young man, wants a brainless fop for a husband. They look for worth. Only such as are your equals, will join hands with you in marriage; and then, O, with what a progeny is earth cursed—the offspring of such an union! Eighteen! Happy age! He stands before the glass, and feels an electric thrill, as he notices a few hairs on that hitherto innocent upper lip of his, albeit they look as lonely as a score of mullen stalks in a ten acre field. O, what would he not give for such a mustache as adorns the face of Tom, Dick or Harry! Now he rushes to a shaving saloon, enters with a pompous tread, and demands a shave. What unutterable pride is his when, for the first time, the keen blade of the barber glides over his lathered phiz! With what a self-important flourish he passes over that dime he drew from his vest pocket! Now he is a man, and no mistake; for hasn't he been shaved? But we pass on hurriedly. He is twenty. See that dapper little fellow behind his father's counter yonder, with a "love of a moustache," tight pants, fancy vest and fancy fob, short coat and foppish et ceteras, as he descants upon his goods to the silly young ladies who came, not to buy, but to see his "divine moustache." Hear his silly twaddle: "Vewy, vewy cheap, I assuwe you. Just heaw in the last steamaw, you know; puaw Bwussels lace; ordewed puwposely fow this firm; the vewy best material, I assuwe you, in the mawket." Is he a man, or is he only an automaton—a masculine dry-goods sign, capable of being shifted about at the will of an owner?—We are sorry to answer, he is a man, as far as stature goes to make the man; for, as we said, there is not one element of true manhood in him. But the truth is patent to every one. Many of our young men, these days, live but to bask in the smiles of their loves, with no thought of the day when papa's purse-strings may be held by less indulgent fingers—when they must breast the storm an unfeeling world holds in reserve for them. They spend their time as though life was to be but a continuation of the butterfly existence of to-day, and take no thought of breakers ahead, which may capsize their life-bark, and leave them in mid-ocean, ignorant of life's seamanship, and untaught in the noble principles of self-reliant manhood. Young lady, do you want to link yourself, for life, to such a creature? But I see a denial there.—Methinks I hear the verdict pronounced from the heart of every true woman, as she sits in judgment upon the case of him who is to make her future happy or miserable. "Not guilty;" or "you are guilty, and yours I cannot be." Young man, rely upon it, no true woman wants a creature who caters to every whim of his tailor, who acts the brainless fop, who adorns his person while he robs the mind, whose energies are bounded by the getting up of fancy balls, fancy suppers and the like, with their accompaniments—the wine-cup, the fashionable card-table and the blighting influences of corrupt associations. A true woman wants a true man—one complete in all the elements of manhood. Unless you are such, or a near approach thereto, go, for a wife, to that class of females who have been very appropriately termed millinery signs

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, July 14, '69.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,

Gen. JOHN W. GEARY, Cumber'd.

FOR SUPREME JUDGE,

HENRY W. WILLIAMS, Allegh'y.

ADVERTISING.—The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN has a larger circulation than any other Republican paper published in the county. Our merchants and business men will please make a note of this.

WE MUST ENLARGE.—If those of our subscribers who have not yet paid for their paper, will take the hint and pay up at once, we will enlage our paper.

We want more room. The platform of principles adopted by the Republican State Convention, and several other editorial articles have been crowded out to make room for our correspondents.

We have been delayed in the publication of the REPUBLICAN this week, by reason of our paper being delayed for several days on the way from Philadelphia to this place. All right next week. Friends, circulate the REPUBLICAN.

Our Nominees.

There is no strife—no split in the great Republican party of Pennsylvania. Victory—glorious victory awaits us on the 2nd Tuesday of October next. Every Republican paper in the State is out most enthusiastically in the support of our present Governor and popular nominee, Gen. JOHN W. GEARY. We give the following selections as a eample of how the press throughout the State endorse the action of our State Convention.

From the Miner's Journal:

The Republican party of Pennsylvania has gloriously and harmoniously opened the campaign of 1869 in our State. On the first ballot in the Convention of Wednesday, and by 122 votes out of 133, it placed Hon. John W. Geary in nomination for Governor, and nominated by acclamation, Judge Williams for Judge of the Supreme Court. This presages a glorious victory at the polls in October. The desperate Democracy have calculated upon dissensions in our ranks, but they reckoned without their host, for the Republican party presents a solid, unbroken front for the hero of Lookout Mountain, and for the great principles embodied in its platform. Governor Geary's administration of the affairs of the State, his rectitude, efforts to reduce the State, indebtedness, care of the interests of the people, his patriotism, his great services in the field, all point to him as a man the people will be proud to honor with a re-election.

Unfurl the old flag and forward to victory.

The Titusville Herald endorses the nomination heartily, speaks in the highest terms of Judge Williams, gives a sketch of the various and arduous public services which Governor Geary has performed, always creditably to himself and satisfactorily to the public, and says emphatically that "His administration of the Executive office for the past three years has been able, honest, and marked by dignity and moderation."

From the Blair County Radical:

The candidates of the Republican party and the declaration of its principles are now before the people of Pennsylvania. The issue so far as the Republican party is concerned, is made. Our stand has been taken: our ground selected, and all that remains to the full inauguration of the State campaign, is the formal selection of the Democratic nominees.

* * * * * *

We have the strength to succeed by a handsome majority, and nothing but an inexcusable indifference in the selection of local nominees can defeat us.

From the Pittsburg Gazette:

The Republicans of Pennsylvania again marshal their columns in the field and under the same leader who headed the victorious march of 1867. And at least an equal triumph again awaits them. It is not within the remembrance of our politicians that a Convention of the party has found its way so speedily and so harmoniously to the conclusion of its labors, as did that Republican Council which yesterday assembled at Philadelphia, to learn that its members were all of one mind, that the path through a successful canvass was to be embarrassed by no preliminary struggles for the individual honors of the nominations, that they, who should be our standard bearers, had been already indicated by an unanimous popular preference, and that, all over the arena of consultation, there could be found, either of principles or of men, absolutely nothing whatever to debate. The barest needful formalities of organization alone preceded the enthusiastic cheers which from every side welcomed the reinvestiture of our nominees, by a common consent, with the unshaken confidence of their political friends, and, as we are quiet sure, of a large majority of the people of this Commonwealth. In the contrasts which yesterday's Convention affords, in this regard, with the proceedings of its predecessors in '63 and '66, our Republican friends will discover the happiest auguries for the inevitable triumph of next October.

* * * * * *

It remains now for the Republican of Pennsylvania to complete the work which they begun. It can and will be finished in but one way. Our commonwealth is with us. We have governed it well. The people ask for no change in its general policy. We have the votes, and these will be cast, as ever, for the party of the Union, of American interests, of liberty and equality under our Constitution and laws.

THE Republican party polled 1,331,812 votes in 1846; 1,857,610 in 1860; 2,223,035 in 1864, and 3,010,453 in 1868.

Time-Honored Democracy.

The Cincinati Enquirer proposes to substituts for "Decoration Day" a Contribution Day, with one day in the year set apart, North and South, for the collection of funds for the care of the widows and orphans of fallen heroes, whose wants cannot be supplied by such ceremonies as those of Decoration Day. This would be better, no doubt, for the widows and orphans, but not so good for the Grand Army of Radical office-hunters. They will never consent to the change.—Age.

"Then took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair: and the house was filled with the odor of the ointment.

"Then saith one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him,

"Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence and given to the poor?"

"This he said, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief."

PAYING FOR BEING WHIPPED.—A Democratic paper says the "United States is the only Government in the world that ran behind two thousand millions of dollars in the short space of four years." The Nevada Gazette says to this: This is is all very true, and no wonder Democrats grumble about it. Every dollar of it was piled up in compelling Democrats to keep the peace and obey the laws, and now that they have got to help pay the expenses of the whipping, it is perfectly natural they should growl. However they have the proud satisfaction of knowing that the job, although costly, has been thoroughly done and with the exception of a little switching and mending occasionally, will never have to be repeated. The Democrats have cost the country a pile of money, but the people—the great Republican party—are compelling them to work out a considerable portion of it.

"THE rich are growing richer and the poor poorer," is the cry of the free trade advocates. But the income returns of 1868 do not bear them out. Take, for instrance, the city of N. York, where the income tax payers have increased in the past year nearly three and a half per cent.; while the taxable income has increased twenty-four per cent. The number of tax payers in 1867 was 17,430, now it is 18,030; the income taxed was $68,045,862 in 1867, and is now $85,597,484; while the tax has increased nearly a million of dollars. The average income of each tax payer in 1867 was $3,900; now it is nearly $4,750.

THE California Democracy have a just and sensible ambition. They propose to furnish, in the person of their present Governor Haight, the next candidate of their party for President, and as one of the indications to show that they propose to lead off in the work, they formally approve, in their State Convention resolutions, of the passage and ratification of the 15th Amendment. Sensible Californians! Thus far, at least, they deserve the name of Democrats.

THE Democrats are not pleased with Mr. Boutwell's very successful management of our National Treasury.—His rapid reduction of the public debt is falsifying all their evil predictions, and they are consequently unhappy.—Gen. Grant and the Republican party have pledged themselves to "economy, retrenchment and the payment of the public debt," and they mean to fulfil their pledge if it makes miserable every Democrat in the country.

THERE never was a party in existence in this country which redeemed its pledges as faithfully as has the Republican. When it was organized it pledged itself to maintain the national life. The crushed slave-holder's rebellion is the evidence of the fulfilment of that covenant. During that struggle the Republicans agreed to pay the national debt and take care of survivors of the war for the Union. It is doing this every day.

TWO THIRDS of the thirty-five hundred newspapers of the United States are Republican in politics. Republicans are the reading portion of our population, and it is they who give life and vigor to all the educational and intellectual undertakings of the day. The Democracy always claim to have the majority of the population on a fair count. Now, if they have, it is a majority of ignorance.

THE Democracy seem to be in trouble over the raising of funds to carry on the political campaign. At any rate, the Reading Eagle proposes to have printed a large number of "twenty-five cent certificates, similar to those used in Sunday Schools, for missionary purposes," and get every Democrat to buy one! This is calling for quarter at an early stage of the fight.

THE Wade Hampton clique only last year had for their motto, as effecting the colored people of the South, "Vote for us or starve!" The colored people are still living. It was not so with the Democracy of the nation a few years ago, when in power; as practically the result then, and more than once, was "Vote for us, and starve!" [Vide bread riots, &c.]

NEARLY sixteen and a half millions reduction in the public debt, during the month of June is a pretty good exhibit for the Administration. So much for Republican honesty.

DURING the four months since Grant's administration has been in working order, the public debt has been reduced over thirty-six millions! Mark that fact, taxpayers.

For the Republican.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—On the 19th of June, in company with a friend, I visited the famous Delaware Water Gap—the grandeur, beauty and picturesqueness of whose scenery I will not pretend to portray, though trying to give your readers a description of what I saw. Leaving the growing, lively village of Portland, we drove along the banks of the beautiful Delaware for two miles, when we came in full and close view of the mountain, (Kittatinny,) rising up before us in one almost continuous, solid mass of sandstone rock, to the height of several hundred feet, and jutting out almost to the river's edge, leaving scarce room for the narrow wagon road, and the track of the Del., Lac. & Western Railroad. Above this precipitous, rocky mass, the mountain is covered with a growth of pine, spruce, and other trees, similar to those found on our own Alleghenies.

The mountain, on the opposite side of the river, presents a bold, rough, rugged, steep acclivity, seemingly rising to a greater height than the Penn'a side. Far up toward its top, massive gray rocks jut out from its side, presenting, with the lofty, wall-like structure on this side, a striking spectacle of Nature's grandeur and power, and an approximate evidence of the power and wisdom of Him to whose laws all the works of Nature are conformed.—Passing round the angle which the road makes with the point of rocks mentioned above, we entered the narrows. For over a mile there is room for but one wagon track. A wall has been built along the lower side, thus preventing the danger of being precipitated down the steep bank onto the railroad track below. The river here is narrow and deep. The mountains, on both sides, rise up quite precipitously, and are covered with a luxuriant growth of trees and underbrush. A pleasant ride of nearly two miles brought us to the Kittatinny House, E. Broadhead, Proprietor. Within a few rods of the house, we passed the spot where Theo. Broadhead, an uncle of the present proprietor, was murdered by Brookes and Orme, the former of whom is, as yet, at large, notwithstanding the large reward offered for his re-capture.

The Kittatinny is a large, commodious and well furnished house, capable of accommodating from two hundred and fifty to three hundred boarders. The fact that it is filled every summer is a sufficient commendation of the skill and ability of its proprietor in rendering everything pleasant and agreeable. In front of the house, Caldeno creek, a beautiful little stream of water, comes tumbling down the mountain, furnishing an abundant supply of water to the entire house, thro' whose culinary department it passes, and then, leaping down a bank one hundred feet in height, is lost in the waters of the Delaware.

Having obtained a circular with the list of the most interesting places, and a "guide," we passed through the yard in front of the hotel, into an inclosure on the opposite side of the road, and from thence up a flight of steps to the "Senape" Lake, a beautiful little sheet of water, partly natural, and partly artificial, and formed of the waters of Caldeno creek. After having sufficiently enjoyed this, we passed around its base, and following the directions of our "guide, clambered up a steep, but well beaten path, to Cooper's cliff. The labor of the ascent was well repaid by the view from this point. Five hundred feet below glided the Delaware, while far up, and stretching out from its banks, there was a beautiful succession of low hills and beautiful valleys, covered with fine fertile farms and shady woodlands. Well might we have exclaimed: "How beautiful!" Leaving this spot, and passing along the edge of Table Rock—for this part of the mountain is one mass of rock—we came to "Table Rock" view, where the same scene presents itself, only more extensively, and with the addition of a splended view, down the river, of the Gap, which seemed, indeed, to be no longer a gap, but, growing narrower and narrower in the distance, it appeared entirely closed up by the mountains. From this, crossing the rock, and descending a sloping path, we came to "Moss Cataract," a name given to the place where Caldeno creek runs down a smooth, moss-covered rock for nearly a hundred feet. At the end of this cataract is "Diana's Bath," which seems as if it had been hollowed out by man, so regular and well defined are its sides and bottom. Diana might well feel honored in having such a bathing place. We doubt whether the streams of Greece or Asia Minor could afford a better or more sequestered, shaded place for it. She might bathe here without fear of either the sun's burning rays, or the moon's pale light. Below this the water falls over a precipice of about twelve feet in height, forming "Caldeno Falls." This is a beautiful, picturesque and refreshing sight, and the place a most delightful retreat on a hot summer day. We enjoyed it, standing 'neath the shadow of a great rock, above and about which the spruce and the pine were casting their cooling shadows, while the laurel, covering the banks of the stream, with its fresh-blown flower, added to the beauty of the scene. We were loth to leave it. The next point of interest visited was the "Lover's Leap." This is a mile from the hotel, and lower down the river than the other points. Although our "guide" said we would not be satisfied with one visit to this charming view, I am certain we were. Had we not seen the splendid views from "Cooper's Cliff" and "Table Rock," it might have been otherwise.

The legend concerning an Indian princess, Winona, daughter of the chief of a tribe of Indians once in this neighborhood, and her white lover—of their last interview at this rock, when he breaks to her the intelligence that he is commanded to return to his own country, and must leave her—of her reply, and, at its close, springing up to throw herself over the rocks—of his catching her in his arms, all very fitly winds up with the word "and—," for, while they might have received some bruises, their necks were certainly not in much danger from such a leap. Being too tired to care about visiting "Prospect Rock" Mount Minsi," (the Penn'a summit of the Kittatinny, and distant about two miles from us,) we returned to the hotel, well pleased with what we had seen.

If this letter proves acceptable to you and your readers, I hope, at a future time, if I am permitted again to visit it, to write of incidents connected with the Gap, as well as of other scenes. Asking pardon for occupying so much of your time, I am

Yours truly,
KENNETH.

A LAND suit has just been decided in a Chicago court by which ex-Governor Seymour, of New York, comes in for a share of a million of dollars. This is better than the Presidency. While the money is sure to make friends the Presidency is sure to make enemies.

WHAT MEDICINES

YOU TAKE

When you are exhausted by over-work of head or hand, and feel the need of something invigorating, don't drink whiskey nor any intoxicating thing, whether under the name strength to your weary body and mind as the whip gives to the jaded horse, and no more. Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to Nerve-health, and are ALWAYS followed by DEPRESSING REACTION.

DODD'S NERVINE & INVIGORATOR

is a TONIC and GENTLE STIMULANT which is NOT attended by REACTION. What it gains for you it maintains. When it refreshes body or mind, it refreshes with natural strenght that come to stay. We are not recommending tetotalism in the interest of any faction; but long and extended observation teaches us that he who resorts to the bottle for rest or recuperation, will find, as he keeps at it, that he is kindling a fire in his bones which will consume like the flames of perdition. Turn from it. Take a tonic that will rerresh and not destroy. Dodd's Nervine is for sale by all Druggists. Price One Dollar. See book of Certificates that accompanies each bottle.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and all so people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

"GRANDFATHERS' STOVE."

Our grandfather's stove, what a funny old thing,
So deep, so wide and so tall;
Now the people would say, who are stylish and gay,
"It was only a hole in the wall."

It matters not what, it was pleasant to see
When night's mantle was flung over all;
Grandfather take down his good book and read
By the light from the hole in the wall.

As the sturdy young men rolled in the great logs,
They would laugh at each wintry squall,
Whilst grandma would sit on her old chair and knit
By the light from the whole in the wall.

The girls then were home spun, and so did their beaux's,
For pride was a principle small;
And courting was done and hearts have been won
By the light from the hole in the wall.

The neighbors were friendly wherever they'd meet,
With a word of true kindness for all;
And joy was complete to hear voices so sweet
Ring round that old hole in the wall.

In those days we know, folks cared not for show,
Of improvements knew nothing at all;
But 'twas really no joke, when great clouds of smoke
Rushed out from the hole in the wall.

But those days are now o'er, we shall know them no more,
And all those old fashions have flown;
Whilst the solemn and gay are coming each day
To purchase the famous "OLD HOUSE."

Coming not only in couples, but in scores, as hundreds of good and wise men and women have done before, to look upon this magnificent stove, which is acknowledged to be the best cooking stove of the age. Remember the place,

SOLDIER'S REUNION.—A reunion of the soldiers of Centre county, in commemoration of the Fourth of July, was held in this Borough, on Saturday, July 3d.

The exercises in the afternoon, at the Court House, were opened by Capt. A. B. Hutchison, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangement, who called the assembly to order, and announced the following officers of the meeting:—President, Gen. W. H. Blair; Vice-Presidents, Cyrus Strickland, Capt. M. Runkle, Col. Geo. A. Bayard, Israel J. Grenoble, Col. C. L. Greeno, J. C. Bathgate, Col. R. McFarlane and James I. McClaskey; Secretaries, Capt Isaac Lytle and Jacob Zimmerman.

Gen. Blair, upon assuming the chair, addressed the assembly in eloquent and patriotic terms, alluding, especially, to the grand record made by the officers and soldiers of Centre county, who had, in proportion to the population of the county, been more numerous than in any other locality, and who had formed portions of the most efficient and most distinguished of the regiments of the State. He referred to the fact that no volunteer officer of our county had been sent home in disgrace, and that our soldiers had honorable part in every campaign and battle of the war for the Union, in forcible and fitting terms. He paid a deserved compliment to the great War Governor, whose influence and example had contributed so much to this grand record, and closed his address amidst the applause of the audience.

An overture by the Bellefonte Brass Band was then very creditably performed.

A prayer, appropriate to the occasion, was offered by Rev. B McGann, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal church.

The Philharmonic Society then sang the grand chorus, "O, hail us ye Free," in so excellent a style as to win the plaudits of the house.

The Declaration of Independence was read, in unusually good style, by Capt. Jas. P. Smith, of Millheim, late of the 49th Pa. Vol's.

At the close of the reading, the Philharmonic Society sang the "Star Spangled Banner," Mr. E. M. Blanchard as solo, with the society joining in chorus. All agree that they never heard the National Anthem so well sung.

After music by the Bellefonte Brass Band, Gen. Blair announced that the orator of the day, Gen. Harry White, was prevented, by unavoidable circumstances, from fulfilling his appointment as orator of the day, and introduced Capt. A. B. Hutchison, who had been selected by the committee to take his place.

Capt. Hutchison proceeded to address the audience present, in a speech of less than half an hour's duration, which was very warmly applauded by his audience. It was entirely appropriate to the occasion, and pronounced by all, an unusually happy effort. As it was prepared within a few hours, and entirely extempore, it was a remarkable and gratifying success.

The song, "E Pluribus Unum," was not given, as a sudden illness of a lady called away some of the members of the Philharmonic Society, but the audience were entertained by the Bellefonte Band, and the meeting adjourned to re-assemble at the banquet in the evening

The banquet at the Brockerhoff House came off, according to the Programme, at 8 o'clock, p. m. A delay of some minutes was experienced, in consequence of the failure of the gaslights, caused by the shock of a bolt of lightning which struck the flagstaff on the Reynolds Bank building, just opposite the Brockerhoff. A wire leading to the Garman House, put up for the purpose of strengthening the flagstaff, carried off the current of electricity, and saved the building from damage.

Gen. Blair took the chair at the tables, and, first in order, the company proceeded to dispose of a most excellent supper, provided by the Proprietors of the Brockerhoff. All agreed that, as a triumph of the culinary art, this banquet surpassed all others in the history of Bellefonte.—After the eatables were disposed of, Messrs. Blanchard, Harris, Hibler and Gallagher entertained the company by singing the familiar and appropriate song, "We've drank from the same Canteen."

Regular toasts being then in order, and most excellent champagne on the tables, the Chairman announced the first toast, "The President of the United States," calling upon Capt. Jas. P. Smith to respond. Capt. Smith replied in a brief, appropriate and eloquent speech, deserving and winning the applause and congratulations of all the company.

Then, after a song by our musical friends before named, the Chairman announced the next toast, "The Soldiers of Centre county," calling upon Gen. Beaver to reply. Gen. Beaver responded in a most eloquent, entertaining and appropriate speech, facetiously declaring, however, that the Chairman had stolen his thunder in the afternoon. He appeared to have plenty left, however, and paid an appropriate tribute to his companions in arms.

The third regular toast, "The Signers of the Declaration," was responded to by Jno. G. Love, Esq., in an able effort, and one as remarkable for its force and elegance, as for its conciseness and polish. He was loudly cheered.

The next regular toast, "The Veteran Reserve Corps," being given, the Chairman called upon Lt. Barr to respond, who, declining, offered W. W. Brown as his substitute, who happily replied to the sentiment, giving a graphic description of the services of the Reserve corps.

Capt. Isaac Lytle responded to the next regular toast, "The Christian and Sanitary Commissions," in a very brief but appropriate speech, and elicited hearty applause.

After another song, the sixth toast was given, "The Ladies," to reply to which the Chairman called upon Capt. Chas. H. Hale, who met the demand in excellent style. In fact, Captain Hale surpassed himself on his favorite theme, and was warmly congratulated upon his very gratifying success in that most difficult task, complimenting our lady friends as they deserved.

After more singing, volunteer toasts were in order, and several were offered and responded to very happily. Mr. H O. Kline replying to the toast, "The private Soldiers, they win the honors which others wear," and Capt. Hutchison to the toast, "The Volunteer officers."

"The Regular Army—on many a field they have shown the advantages of discipline united with valor" was happily responded to by Capt. Hale.

To the "Quartermasters' Department—the legs of the army"—after fruitless calls for Capt. Humes, Lieut. Kurtz was compelled to respond, which he did briefly and well.

The next toast—"The Medical Department—may they never come to want, and never be wanted," failed to secure a response from the representatives of the medical profession present, on account of the extreme modesty of the gentlemen who were called upon.

The toast—"Our Hosts and Hostesses," was very happily responded to by W. W. Brown, who evinced by his very appropriate remarks his appreciation of just such a supper as had been spread before us. The next volunteer toast was "The Emergency Volunteers—their services to the Union have never been fully appreciated:" Mr. A. O. Furst was loudly called for to respond to this sentiment, but was not found in this emergency, when Ex-Sheriff Conley responded by a brief description of the invasion of Somerset county, and the capture of the maple sugar thereof by the emergency men. He casually remarked that the reason the enemy did not come that way was that they heard of the presence of the militia in that country.

The last volunteer toast was offered by J. G. Kurtz—"The triumph of the soldiers in the war is a vindication of the principles of the Declaration of Independence," to which J. R. Zimmerman briefly and appropriately replied.

Maj. Pifer then, on invitation, sang the "Sword of Bunker Hill," and Mr. E. M. Blanchard having been detected in an attempt to escape from the lines, by a member of the Irish Brigade, was sentenced to sing the "Fine Old Irish Gentleman," which he did with great success and to the very particular gratification of the company.

On motion Capt's. Hale, Lytle, Smith, Hutchison and John G. Love, were appointed a Committee to arrange for the next annual reunion, and the company adjourned at 11 p. m. with the toast drank on their feet in silence, "The memory of our fallen Comrades."

All the exercises of the day and evening passed off harmoniously and to the gratification of all concerned, all agreeing that the celebration of the 4th, by the soldiers, was a grand success. The Brockerhoff House also won and deserved the plaudits of all who had an opportunity to share in their hospitality.

I. L. S.,
Reporter for the REPUBLICAN.

THE FOURTH IN BOALSBURG.—We learn the following particulars of the celebration of the Fourth in Boalsburg, from a very particular friend. The citizens, always ahead in loyalty, both in deed and in form, commenced coming in early in the morning. The streets began to fill up with buggies and carriages. The people looked pleasant, and the women, especially, as lovely as the morning, and gay as the beautiful and romantic scenery which surrounds our enterprising town. At 7 o'clock, a. m., 14 buggies left town for the Pennsvalley Cove. Shortly after, four carriages for the valley, and in about one hour after, eleven more buggies went to the same place, making, in all, twenty-five buggies and four carriages.

When we looked at those fat and prancing horses, and the rich buggies and happy people, we could not avoid wishing (even on the 4th) that P. G. Meek could be present to witness the signs of "hard times" about which he prates so much, so foolishly and so falsely.

About 8 o'clock, a. m., the Boalsburg Brass Band struck up the tune "America," and walked the streets until about 250 persons formed in procession, when they marched to Liberty Grove, where every preparation had been made for a pic-nic and celebration. The meeting being organized, the Declaration of Independence was read, a speech was made, and listened to attentively by all. After which, music by the band, followed by vocal music by the ladies and gentlemen. The people enjoyed themselves to the full; indeed, there was quite a joyful time. All felt rejoiced that the war was ended, the nation saved, and that we yet had a 4th of July to celebrate.

The brass band did itself great credit, and received the thanks and plaudits of all present.

Prof. Leisher, Rev. Williams and Rev. Grow were present, and received the thanks of the people for the part they took, in celebrating the natal day of American Independence.

THE Rev. D. S. Schoedler will preach in the Reformed Church of this place on Sunday the 25th inst, Morning and evening.

THE Sunday school of Milesburg had a picnic at Brownells Grove, near milesburg, July 3d, which passed off pleasantly. Particulars as to speakers and exercises have not reached us.

NEXT WEEK.—The article relating to the death of Mr. Clearwater, and the contemptible Slanders set afloat by the Watchman, has been crowded out. It will be attended to next week.

ACCIDENT.—A few day's since, a little son of Mr. James Heaton, of Boggs tp., this county, fell from a fence, while at school, thereby breaking an arm Under the care of Dr. Hall, of Milesburg, the little fellow bids fair soon to return to join his playmates.

MAGNIFICENT.—The largest cherries we have ever seen, were raised by Rob't. W. Porter, Proprietor of the Old Fort Hotel. We were presented with a box of them. Mr. Porter has gained to himself the reputation of keeping one of the best Hotels in the county, and we are right sure that no man in the county, has raised larger or finer cherries. If any person has beaten him either as a Hotel keeper or in raising fine fruit we heve yet to learn the fact.

STABBING AFFAIR.—At Philipsburg, on Saturday last, a man by the name of Johnson, and a Mr. Enos, got into a quarrel, in a saloon. Angry words passed, and an attempt made on the part of Mr. Enos to strike a blow. A knife was drawn by Johnson and plunged into the bowels of Mr. Enos. Mr. Enos died on Monday morning last from the effects of the wound. Johnson was arrested and lodged in our new and expensive, but not secure jail, on Monday evening.

NO HUMBUG.—We do not wish to inform you, readers, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures all diseases of mind, body or estate, and is designed to make our sublunary sphere a blissful paradise, to which heaven itself shall be but a side show, but we do wish to inform you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has cured thousands of cases of catarrh in its worst form and stages, and the proprietor will pay $500 for a case of this loathsome disease that he cannot cure. It may be procured by mail for sixty cents, by addressing R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by most druggists everywhere. j30-2t.

THE FRUIT CROP.—The supply of fruit of every description this year promises to be immense. The pear and apple-trees throughout our own State are already bending beneath the weight of the young fruit. The peach crop in Maryland and Delaware will be unprecedented. The railroad companies in the latter State have now ready over four hundred properly ventilated and shelved cars for the transportation of the peaches. It is believed that these arrangements will be hardly sufficient to move the fruit, and more cars and sailing vessels will be required. The inhabitants of Delaware are congratulating themselves that the peninsula, which has been impoverished by failures in former years, is now favored by unprecedented crops, and that comfort and happiness will be restored to hundreds of homes where want and misery have prevailed for the past two years.

HOW TO KEEP COOL.—The following simple hints, from the Scientific American, are useful to remember, during the warm weather of the present season:

"Be sparing in your diet, which should consist principally of fruits, berries and vegetables. Avoid everything of a greasy nature; also spices, condiments and sweets. Drink nothing but water. Chew nothing but food, chew that well, but do not chew too much of it. Excess in eating is one of the principal causes of that lazy, listless, relaxing feeling experienced by so many persons in hot weather. Dress lightly, and change often. Wear nothing at night which is worn during the day. Bathe body every morning with cool or cold water. Keep a clean conscience as well as clean body and clean clothing, and don't get excited.—If uncomfortably warm at any time, immerse the hands, or feet, or both, in cold water for a short time, or let a stream of cold water run upon the wrists and ankles. This will cool the whole body in a short time."

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The next meeting of the State Teachers' Association, which will be held at Greensburg, August 10th, promises to be very largely attended. The programme, which is under the direction of Mr. Henry Houck, Deputy Superintendent of Common Schools, and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association, will embrace several very important features.

Hon. E. E. White, State Superintendent of Common Schools of Ohio, will deliver an address, the subject of which has not yet been selected.

Rev. W. C. Falconer, of Mercer, will have for his subject "Conflict and Reform."

Swithin C. Shortlidge, of Kennett Square, will meet the question, "Shall common sense clear away legal cobwebs?" which, it is expected, will discuss the question of the election of female county school superintendents, now agitating the directors and the people of Chester county.

Dr. C Townsend, of New York, will deliver a most able address on "Civil Government."

Superintendent Jones, of Erie, will speak on "School Attendance."

Addresses will also be made by State Superintendent Wickersham, Deputy Superintendent Houck, Dr. Thomas H. Burrows and others.

Essays will be read by Miss. Jennie Reighard, of Williamsport, and Miss. Glass of Pittsburg.

The above are only some of the prominent features of the annual meeting.—Cor. Phil'a Evening Bulletin.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.—The citizens of Bellefonte may well congratulate themselves in having at last gotten an institution of learning worthy of the place. By the perseverance, energy and talent of Rev. J. P. Hughes and lady, the school has had unexampled success. It out-grew the capacity of the building, which has been enlarged, and is to undergo still further improvements. The "hill of science" has, from being a bleak knob, been made a delightful paradise of flowers and evergreens, and, doubtless, the road to science has, under their genial guidance, been improved as much. Prof. Hughes is in his element at the head of an institution of learning, and his whole soul is engaged in its successful advancement. The late examinations and exhibitions have given us new proof of the ability of the Professor and his corps of teachers to fill the high calling they have undertaken. The court-house is too small a place to hold an audience to so rich a treat. We wish the whole party long life, and good health in their noble enterprise, along with an increasing patronage. W.

CELEBRATION.—On Saturday, the 3d inst., the Sabbath-school at Eagle Chapel, in connection with the Order of Good Templars of Howard and Eagle Works, met in a beautiful grove, and very appropriately celebrated the birthday of our National liberties. The programme consisted of speaking, singing, &c. The Rev. E. Butler addressed the Sabbath-school in a very appropriate manner, after which all partook of a rich repast, to which ample justice was done by playing the game of knife and fork for an hour or two. After dinner, singing by the Good Templars, which was not the best in the world, then a well-timed temperance address by the Rev. E. Butler. The exercises, throughout, were enlivened by some of the best music, discourred by the Milesburg String Band. This band is young, but a more thorough set of practical musicians is not, in our estimation, in the county.—Some of its members are but juveniles, of from twelve to thirteen years of age, but masters of the art. Milesburg can, very justly, boast of the finest String Band in the country. The celebration past off pleasantly, every one satisfied that the day was well spent. ZERO.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I had the extreme pleasure of witnessing, on Thursday eve, the 1st inst, the performances of an exhibition of the young folks of Zion, Pa. Allow me, in order to give your readers a definite idea of the performance, to treat this in detail. The performance was conducted in the Zion school-house which was entirely too small to accommodate the audience in attendance.—There were many ladies, as well as gentlemen, who were obliged to assume an erect posture if they chose to listen and see. The school-house was ornamented in a very becoming manner. The performances consisted of original orations, lectures, dialogues, declamations, essays and tableaux, original and selected.—The performance was interspersed with excellent music, produced by three violins and an organ. It may be gratifying to these musicians to say that their music was highly appreciated by the audience.

A lecture on "Education" was delivered by Mr. Twitmyer, who did well, and, no doubt, spoke as he felt. If persons would follow the advice of the eloquent speaker, the children of to-day would receive much better educations than they do.

A lecture on "Air, and its relation to man," was delivered by Dr. Fisher.—The gentleman illustrated the impropriety of sleeping in unventilated rooms, and sitting in rooms where the sun could not penetrate. Suffice it to say that the illustrations were well made, and, generally, well taken.

An oration on a few technical points of education were delivered by Mr. Kroul. This gentleman's comparisons were excellent, and, to all appearances, carried conviction to the mind and heart of every one present.

An oration was delivered by Mr. G. Wells Twitmyer, the subject of which I was unable to hear, owing to some unnecessary confusion existing at the time, and business calling me away, I heard very little of the discourse, and, consequently, am unable to give a correct report of it.

Now, for me to conclude without mentioning the ladies, would be an unpardonable piece of malicious neglect. The most attractive, and the piece creating the greatest sensation was, "The Old Maids." The young ladies personating these undesirable characters, performed their parts so well, that at one time we feared they would relapse into that unenviable stage of womanhood, for which every young lady in the land, (and some that are not so young,) entertains so profound a contempt.

There was also a sufficient amount of vocal music, consisting of songs, &c.

The "Bar-room" is a piece which young men should take to heart, and forever try to banish the anticipations of realizing such a scene.

The "Old German," and his son "John" was very enlivening to an audience whose feelings had been greatly depressed, and the old German made a speech which tickled the audience, and his boy played on the hand organ.

Now, a few remarks concerning the audience. The respectable class of persons in attendance conducted themselves in a becoming and proper manner, but rowdies of the worst stamp were in attendance. These rowdies were not all citizens of this community. Such an unmanerly set of imps, I think, were never before congregated. They did everything that was mean, low and contemptible. They made fun of the performances, talked aloud, &c., and it was evident that their educations had been sadly neglected. I have no desire to ever again witness such a shameful exhibition of human depravity:

The performances lasted til after midnight. SPECTATOR.

READ.—We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisements. We have not space for farther notice.

FIRST-CLASS JEWELRY.—It is with pleasure that we again refer to the splendid stock of Jewelry, clocks, watches, &c., kept, constantly on hand by J. H. Hahn, at his jewelry-store, on Spring St., Bellefonte, Pa, adjoining the store of the Messrs. Harper Bro's. Mr. Hahn understands his business, and we have no hesitancy in recommending him to our patrons and friends.

ATTENTION, TRAVELLERS!—In another column of the Republican will be seen the advertisement of Jno. Kreamer, Proprietor of the National Hotel, Millhiem, Centre County, Pa. The National is decidedly the best house in Millhiem. It is quiet and orderly, well furnished and the Landlord, Mr. Kreamer, spares neither time nor money in catering to the comfort and appetites of his guests.

FROM MILESBURG.—Being of a migratory turn, I recently visited the various Sabbath-schools of Milesburg. The Baptist school is very promising, and bids fair to accomplish much good; though not very large, yet well conducted and very interesting. The Presbyterian school is young, though very respectable in numbers, and promises very fair.—The Methodist school is the largest, numbering one hundred and fifty, officers and teachers included. I think this school one of the first in the county; in fact, it will compare very favorably with any of our refined Eastern city schools. The mode of imparting instructions is plain, simple, instructive and comprehensive. In connection with, and for the benefit of the school, they have a very fine instrument, (musical?) which contributes very largely to the interest of the school. In short, it is a model school, and one of the most interesting it has ever been our privilege to visit. RAMBLER.

UNIONVILLE.—We have been anxiously waiting for something exciting to occur, that we might have the pleasure of informing you, but try as we would, even leaving our old horse stand in the street without being tied, would not take the hint to run off and smash things generally. We tried the other day to bribe a boy to fall out of a cherry tree and break his leg, that we might have but a little excitement. But no; our eloquence and money was of no avail.

The Primary School of this place made a very favorable commencement on Monday, the 5th inst., under the superintendance of Miss. Hannah Thompson. The scholars, no doubt, will improve rapidly under her charge But teacher and scholar labor under a great disadvantage here at this time—the want of a large, well-ventilated and well-furnished school-building. The present school house contains but one poor room. The primary school has to be taught in the latter part of the summer, consequently the terms for the higher grade will run into the spring months. Large scholars cannot remain on account of their work, and the teacher, comparatively speaking, has nothing to do for one month, at least. But I am glad that the citizens are getting around to their interests A meeting has been called for Monday, the 12th inst., to take into consideration the propriety of erecting a first-class school building. The building to consist of two rooms on the first floor, both at the higher grade and primary school can be taught at the same time. The second story to be a hall to be used as a lecture room, and other meetings of an educational character. As it is, we cannot be excelled in Centre county, as to the character of our schools. Our teachers are educated and refined, and possess that happy faculty of knowing how to impart their knowledge, and their convictions of right. And we see the effect. For instance, the political complexion of this part of the county. Why has Union tp. and borough always cast their voice on the side of Freedom, and to alleviate the sufferings of the oppressed? Why? because good schools and efficient teachers have been in our midst; and, to speak in a general sense, why was slavery abolished? because men have been educated up to the proper standard to know that it was wrong. A feeling of justice took possession of them, and justice can only be attained through and by the influence of education. A man, at this day, to oppose free schools, and freedom, is to be pitied, and we must think that his education has been shamefully neglected. TIBERI.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

MR. EDITOR:—As the time for holding the Republican nominating Convention is approaching, when selections for important offices will have to be made, permit me to recommend to your numerous readers, the name of J. B. BUTTS, Esq., as a suitable person to fill the office of Sheriff. Mr. Butts is a sound, undeviating and unflincing Republican, and invariably gives a hearty support to the ticket. If he can be prevailed upon to accept the nomination, he will not only be a popular candidate, but will add strength to the ticket and prove a most competent officer. His unbounded popularity and personal acquaintance will undoubtedly, if nominated, cause his election a moral certainty. Our success, in the approaching campaign, will, in a great measure, depend upon the material we select as candidates.—Let us, then, be up and doing, and victory will be our reward. A REPUBLICAN.

WE are authorized to announce the name of GEO. B. WEAVER, of Bellefonte, as a suitable candidate for Prothonatory, subject to the decision of the Republican Convention. MANY FRIENDS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING July 14, '69,

How to Make Good Pastures.

Many an acre grazed will not carry a sheep. Other acres will give full feed to a cow, each, all through the summer, and be pretty good mowing when frost comes. Both kinds pass under our observation every day. The difference is not in the original character of the land, for it is found on adjoining farms, with the same formation, and with the surface and subsoil looking just alike. There is a big pasture of 50 acres, where fifty sheep would lose rather than gain flesh during the summer. The oldest inhabitant does not remember when it plowed, seeded, or top-dressed. It has always been pastured—generally by cows—until it ceased to yield feed enough to support them. There is some grass upon it now, but more mulleins, fivefingers, and moss. The grass is nearly choked out. But the soil was orginally good. The trees that still stand on the borders are heavy oak and chestnut timber, which do not thrive on poor, thin soils. Yonder is a field of five acres, that pastures five cows, and has done it for several years. The grass is luxuriant, and grows much faster than the cattle can consume it. It was stocked down five years ago after several years of heavy cropping, with vegetables and tobacco. Of course it was manured heavily, and very thoroughly cultivated. The land will feel that treatment, and make grateful returns for a whole generation to come. It is far within the limits of truth to say, that one acre of this five is worth the whole fifty of the other for the purpose of sustaining animal life and making salable products. The one does not pay taxes; the other pays them and a handsome profit. Now we do not believe there is any royal road to thrift with these run-down pastures. Top-dressing will not answer, for grass seed is not there to vegetate. Seeding will do little good, for the grass already there is growing small by degrees. If the soil is fair, arable land, plow, plant, manure, and cultivation, and you give it a new start. The old sod of dead grass roots and moss rots, becomes plant-food, and sends up joyful harvests. But this will cost money, spent in manure, seeds, and labor. You say. Of course it will and if you get your money back again, principal and interest, you ought to be satisfied. If by spending $50 upon a worthless acre of pasture you make it pay you the interest of $60 above the working expenses, you are doing a good business. We must use our capital in farming just as we do in other enterprise. We must bury it as we do our wheat, that it may live and bear fruit. If we buy stock in a railroad, or in almost any enterprise, the capital dies for a time. We do not lose faith if it does not come back the first or second year. Spent in renovating old pastures by plowing and manuring it usually gives full interest the first year, and puts us in the way to secure dividends for years to come.

To Destroy the Pea Bug.

A few days ago a reader inquired what could be done to prevent the mischief done by this little pest. We were not able to give any very pointed advice. Since then we came across the following in the Germantown Telegraph, attributed to the renowned seedsman, Mr. Landreth:

"This troublesome little insect, which deposits its egg in the pea while in the pod, might be even more mischievous than it is, for by some wonderful provision it is taught to avoid the germ, or seat of life; and, strange as it appears to the inexperienced, peas which are nearly eaten to the shell, vegetate with almost as much certainty, though not with equal vigor, as those untouched. It would be well, however, if we were rid of its attentions, and a method seems within our reach; it is simply as follows: So soon as the pea is dry enough to harvest, let it be placed in a tight vessel, and pulverized camphor, at the rate of two ounces to the bushel, or a tablespoonful of sulphuric ether to a similar quantity, be applied; in a few days, if not hours, the bugs will be found sickened, and ultimately dead. If each person who saves peas would adopt the course described, we should ere long rid ourselves of a pestiferous insect."—Prairie Farmer.

THE following recipe for a garden fertilizer, a simple but good compound, has been used with the best results, bringing into requisition material that in many instances would otherwise be wasted (chip dirt and refused salt,) no insignificant element in the formation of vegetable matter: Twelve bushels of ashes; one bushel of refused salt; one bushel of plaster; twelve bushels of hen manure; thirty bushels of chip dirt or muck. Heap your hen manure in a pile and dampen it with a brine from your refused salt until it heats. Then mix in the other ingredients. The fermentation pulverizes the mass and kills the grubs so apt to be found in chip dirt, relieving it of a "doubtful expediency." This compound is as valuable as poudrette.—Country Gentleman.

A CORRESPONDENT of the American Entomolgist says that a few sliced onions, burned in an ant-hill, will cause the ants to leave it. A gill of kerosene oil, poured into the orifices of the nest, will secure the same result.

THEY are using flour made from new wheat in Augusta, Georgia.

The Treatment of Sick Animals.

The crying evil of the agriculture of this country is, that we have no good system of veterinary instruction. Except in the large cities, and, indeed, in most of those, it is impossible to find a well educated veterinary surgeon. Throughout the whole length and breadth of the land, our poor dumb brutes, condemned to suffer from disease generally brought about by our own carelessness are neglected, or obliged to bear the greater suffering of the barbarous treatment of common farriers and quacks, who know almost nothing of the organization of their bodies. As a natural consequence, violent purgings, frightful bloodletting, blisters and firings, are applied without thought and without reason, entailing untold agony to the animal, and generally much loss to its owner. Of course, when an animal is sick, any farmer who is ignorant of what should be done ought to secure the best advice within his reach. But he should always retain so much control over the treatment as to avoid a resort to barbarous remedies, unless the unskilled practitioner can convince him there is good reason for it; for, as a general rule, an animal left to the unguided curative process of nature would come better out of its troubles, than if subjected to the operation of brutal means for the restoration of its health. With animals, as with men, there is far too much medicine-giving, blistering and bleeding; and, probably, more are killed, or permanently injured, by these practices, than are cured by them. Of course, in some desperate cases, they are necessary, but they should always be resorted to with caution, and with much hesitation. In all minor diseases, which result almost invariably from bad air, bad food, filth, and neglect, the wisest treatment is the removal of the cause, and the restoration of those simple, natural conditions upon which the return, no less than the maintenance, of health in based. The purging ball may often be with advantage supplanted by a loosening diet, bleeding, almost invariably by such a diet and pure air. Warm clothing and thorough grooming will usually do the work of the blister, and do it much better. In all cases of strains, bruises, and wounds, water is an almost sovereign remedy; and in nine-tenths of the cases in which it is thought necessary to send for the local cow doctor or horse doctor, the simple treatment above indicated will be found not only cheaper, but far better in its application and in its effects.

Cure for Sheep-Chasing Dogs.

Your correspondent "Straightforward" tells us how he has cured some dogs addicted to chasing sheep. He recommends much patience; in this I quite agree, but to cure a confirmed "chaser" requires more than most men possess. Your correspondent fears a Newfoundland or any other large breed after he has tasted, blood is incurable. I can assure you to the contrary. A large deer-hound of mine, or rather of my father's, (a prize winner at Birmingham), with not being well looked after, got into the habit of chasing sheep, and killing them too, whenever he had an opportunity. He was sharply corrected and kept chained up for some days, but when again taken out was as bad as ever.—My father happily remembered how he had cured a large retriever of the same sin, five-and-thirty years before, and we have, I am pleased to say, made a perfect cure of my deerhound. After one of his chases he was taken up to the sheep farm, securely tied between two old Scotch rams and then let loose in the yard.

No sooner were they let loose than, all three being good jumpers, they cleared the walls, and the dog was dragged about the park until all three were dead tired. The poor fellow was then taken home, and I can assure you "sheep-chasing" is now the very last thing of all others that he thinks of.—London Field.

When Wheat Should be Cut.

There has been some diversity of opinion as to the best time to cut wheat, judging from the common practice of farmers. It is generally cut when dead ripe, or at least when the grain has become hard. This is no doubt an error, and one of more importance than many suppose. It should be remembered that wheat is composed of gluten starch and bran. Gluten is the nourishing quality of the grain, makes the flour stick together in the hands of the baker, and gives weight to the grain—and there is the greatest quantity of gluten in the grain just when the straw is yellow two or three joints from the ground, the head turns downward, and you can smash a grain between your thumb and finger without producing any milk. It may therefore be set down as an indisputable truth that every day the wheat stands after this stage of ripeness, the gluten decreases in quantity and the bran increases in thickness.

A RECENT writer states that 350 bushels of potatoes remove 90 pounds of potash from the soil on which they are grown; consequently, wood ashes is one of the most valuable manures for this crop.

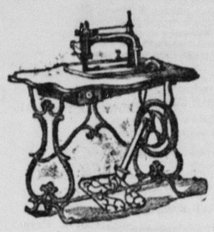
AUSTRIA has 3,000,000 acres of forests, produced by planting. Their value is estimated at several hundred millions of florins.

—BEETS may still be sown with the prospect of a fair crop. Thin the earlier plantings as needed.

SEWING MACHINE.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.



In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.
